

ABSTRACT

A sewer pipe (30) comprising partial pipe shells (31, 32) placed on one another and connecting means (33) connecting the partial pipe shells (31, 32) firmly to each another. A laying method for the sewer pipe, in which the end of the sewer pipe is connected to a boring device and is drawn into the ground by means of the boring device.